- Maintaining and deepening existing client relationships and building up your own client portfolio
- Assisting in negotiating, deciding, and executing deals
- Creating market analyses and evaluating sales opportunities
- Conducting research and business development to generate business opportunities on the Nordic environmental commodities market
- Supporting new products and services and contributing to the development of new markets

KEY REQUIREMENTS

- Must have: A business proficient level of English. Knowledge of another foreign language is a plus.
- Previous working experience is a plus
- Experience in sales and market analysis
- Preferred: Knowledge of the renewable energy sector
- Persuasive, strategic, and empathic ability with excellent communication skills
- Experience using Microsoft Office applications
- Bachelor's degree in business administration, economics or similar

ABOUT US

We enable the energy transition through Biomethane (Renewable Gas) Exchanges. Based in Amsterdam, we are a trusted independent partner in Europe's renewable energies and biomethane trading. From global energy providers to local farmers – our mission is to facilitate transactions between biomethane market players by helping them find the right partners for their needs.

By selling biomethane, you:

- Help companies and governments reduce their carbon footprint
- Promote renewable, sustainable energy usage
- Actively assist in climate change goals
